JAP PLANES BOMBED TIENTSIN

FLAMES CRACKLED THROUGH TIENTSIN FOLLOWING AIR RAID

CHINESE HOLD GRIMLY TO THE POSITIONS WON FROM JAPANESE

TIENTSIN, China, July 29. (AP)—Bomb-made flames crackled through sections of this teeming North Chimany of the outlying villages any of its outlying villages tonight in the wake of Janánese air raiders.

Chinese troops, holding grimly to positions they won in a three-army assault on vital positions in this Japanese military headquarters, declared "thousands of non-combatant men, women and children were killed and injured."

The lives of Americans and other foreigners were imperilled. (There are 223 United States military personnel and dependants and 403 civilians registered in Tientsin, plus 750 American officers and men.)

(Nanking reported simultaneously that 1,000 Chinese soldiers were killed in Japan's onslaught at Nanyuan, Chinese military headquarters south of Peiping. Peiping itself was suddenly peaceful as every Chinese soldier withdrew and a pro-Japanese Chinese general, Chang Tsu-Chung, took charge.)

Lieut. General Kiyoshi Katsuki, Japanese North China commander, told foreign consuls the bombing of Tientsin was authorized by the 36-year-old Boxer protocol which, he said, forbade Chinese troops within two miles of the city.

Must Be Protected.

Ten thousand Japanese live in the Japanese concession, he added, and must be "protected" from the attacking Chinese.

As Americans huddled in foreign concession cellars to escape the rain of bombs, Chinese soldiers took a terrible toll of their foes with their big swords and rifles.

In turn they withstood brutal punishment.

Bridges to the foreign area were ablaze and troops fought hand-to-hand in the streets.

The United States Fifteenth Infantry, stationed here under the Boxer protocol of 1901, took up duty of protecting American lives and property outside the foreign concessions and also of assisting the British troops in forming a protective cordon around the British concession.

Most of Tientsin's American residents live in the British and French concessions and United States authorities have urged all their nationals to seek safety in those areas.

The large installations of the American Standard-Vacuum and Texas Oil companies, lying across the Hai river from Tientsin, had escaped damage tonight although

Patton Expected To Die In Chair In State Prison

AUSTIN, July 29.—(AP)—The last avenue of escape apparently closed today for George Patton, aged Henderson county farmer, sentenced to die in the electric chair, after midnight tonight for slaying Mrs. Carrie McGehee in 1932.

Gov. James V. Allred, who could grant one 30-day reprieve under Texas law, said he contemplated no action in view of a refusal of the board of pardons and paroles to recommend clemency.

Patton was convicted of killing Mrs. McGehee, but was charged also in the slaying of her husband and two children. The disappearance from the Patton farm in an isolated section of north Texas several years ago led to a nationwide search. Skeletons identified as those of the McGehees were dug from the entrance of Patton's cowlot.

Patton told officers at the time the bodies were found the killing grew out of a fight between him and McGehee over the division of crops. Patton lived in the

INVESTIGATION OF CO-OP ASSOCIATION ORDERED BY SENATE

COMMITTEE IS GIVEN BROAD AUTHORITY GO INTO ALL PHASES

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—The senate ordered an investigation today of activities of the American Cotton Co-operative association.

The committee was directed to investigate three points:

"1. The activities of the American Cotton Co-operative association in connection with the grading, stapling, reconcentration and marketing of cotton financed by the federal government by means of loans and advances made by the commodity credit corporation and the cotton producers pool and

"2. The profits derived by such association and other persons and the losses incurred by farmers as a result of such activities.

"3. The membership of the association, its interlocking directorates, if any, its financial structure and operations."

The third point was added in an amendment offered by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), chairman of a committee which once investigated the organization.

This point gave the committee broad authority to go into all phases of the cooperative to determine whether it was a cooperative actually, or "simply a buying and selling organization for the benefit of its officers."

The resolution, which Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the agriculture committee introduced authorized the committee to spend $10,000 on the inquiry.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS WITHIN THREE WEEKS SEEN

TIE-UP IN COURT BILL ONLY THING THAT WOULD PREVENT EARLY QUITTING

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Majority Leader Rayburn told the house today that congress should be able to adjourn in three weeks.

"Unless there is a tie up on the court bill in the senate, by something arising to call a halt," Rayburn said, "we can finish all of this (legislative) program in three weeks. There is a degree of certainty that we can adjourn at that time and not be forced into a session between now and December."

He spoke of prospects of senate action this week on wage and hour and housing legislation, and on the court bill next week. These measures head the program.

The house albor committee, he said, should approve the wage and hour bill this week or the first of next.

At his press conference, Speaker Bankhead said he thought house members were "going to be reasonable about not being stampeded" into adjournment.

The court bill to which Rayburn referred is awaiting senate action behind two other measures — the wage-hour bill and the Wagner housing bill.

Administration leaders apparently wanted to get the housing bill out of the way before the court measure in order to keep it from being left unacted upon in the rush for adjournment which may develop once the court issue is finally disposed of.

They may call up the housing measure tomorrow.

DECLARES WAGE AND HOUR BILL WILL BE DETRIMENT TO LABOR

SENATOR AUSTIN OF VERMONT SAYS IT WOULD MEAN AGRICULTURAL LOSS

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Senator Austin (R-Vt) asserted in the senate today the Black-Connery wage and hour bill would put a "straight-jacket" on labor and mean an economic loss for agriculture.

Austin, opening the third day of debate on the measure, argued its enactment would hurt all phases of economic life and warned that "labor will rue the day it got itself or was forced into this position."

"Is it possible labor does not see this thing?" he asked. "No laborer in America should be so far degraded he must submit to a supreme authority in Washington the question of how many hours he may work."

Senate leaders called the chamber into session an hour earlier than usual today in an effort to get a vote on the bill. Numerous amendments had to be acted on, however.

"The farmer will not be exempted as this bill pretends he will be," Austin declared. He said

Concrete Pouring On Highway 22 To Start Next Week

Pouring of the concrete pavement, 20 feet wide, on Highway 22, immediately west of Pinkston, is scheduled to get under way next week, M. L. Bowers, resident state highway engineer, stated Thursday. Work is being done in the ponding of the subgrade this week.

A large amount of equipment has been unloaded at the headquarters of the paving concern at Blooming Grove. The pavement will be started at the end of the old slab near Pinkston and will be laid in a northwesterly direction. Pavement will soon be started in the vicinity of Frost and will be poured back toward Blooming Grove. It is expected that the slab on the heavy blackland belt will be completed before the winter and rainy season starts.

Allred Adviser Says Third Term May Be Sought

AUSTIN, July 29.—(AP)—Edward Clark, secretary of state and adviser of Governor James V. Allred, reiterated today he believed a strong possibility existed that Allred would try to shatter precedent and obtain election to a third term.

Clark intimated, however, that the governor probably would decide against such a course if the legislature at its fall session enacted the major points of his program. He listed these points as provision for balancing the budget, financing a broad social security program and state regulation of public utilities.

"The governor is prepared to run if it's necessary," Clark said. "However, accomplishments of the fall session or sessions may change the whole picture."

The secretary of state said that in his recent travels over Texas he had found little opposition to a governor serving three two-year terms.

"The national precedent," he said, "is that presidents serve only two four-year terms. Many congressmen, state and local officers are chosen for three or more two-year terms. The Fergusons between them were elected to four terms as govrnor."

THREE OKLAHOMA COUNTY ATTORNEYS PROTESTED OUTLAW'S EXTRADITION

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29.—(AP)—Extradition of Roy "Pete" Traxler to Texas to complete a 99-year armed robbery sentence was ordered today by Gov. E. W. Marland over protests of three Oklahoma county attorneys who sought to try the outlaw on similar charges in this state.

The extradition papers were issued to Bud Russell, agent of W. W. Waid, warden of the Texas prison, shortly after noon.

Fred Cunningham, state pardon and parole attorney, said he believed Traxler could be removed soon from the McAlester prison where he is recovering from a

DETERMINATION TO PASS MUCH URGENT LEGISLATION SEEN

WAGE-HOUR, HOUSING AND COURT BILLS HEADED ADMINISTRATION SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Congressional chieftains took back to the capitol from the white house today a determination to pass as much of the administration program as possible before yielding to adjournment demands.

The wage-hour, housing and court bills headed the schedule agreement on by house and senate leaders after a two-hour canvass with President Roosevelt.

They were understood to be hoping for an adjournment by Mid-August but would not mention any specific date.

Their refusal to fix a tentative time was designed to head off filibusters and to block "pressure moves" for troublesome legislation.

Blocs were organized in both houses to bring about a vote on a sugar quota law to replace the expiring Jones-Costigan Act. In the senate there were demands for action on anti-lynching legislation, which the house has passed.

NON-COMBATANT MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN BY THOUSANDS DEAD

PEIPING SAVED FROM FIGHTING BY WITHDRAWAL CHINESE TROOPS

By The Associated Press.

Flames from Japanese aerial bombardments roared through sections of Tientsin tonight after planes bearing the red insignia of the rising sun took a toll declared by Chinese to be thousands of non-combattant men, women and children killed and injured.

The bombardment, carried out by the Japanese in an attempt to rout a Chinese attack that threatened to drive Japanese from the city, endangered the lives of many Americans and other foreigns.

Lieut. General Kiyoshi Katsuki, Japanese commander in north China, told foreign consuls the action was to "protect" the 10,000 Japanese who live in the Tientsin Japanese concession. He declared his men acted in accordance with the Boxer protocol of 1901 in which China undertook not to station troops within two miles of Tientsin.

Among the 1,376 Americans in Tientsin was Lieut. Paul W. Caraway, son of Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas.

Peace came to Peiping and its environs when Chinese troops withdrew and General Sung Cheh-Yuan, commander of the 29th Chinese army, went out and General Chang Ts-Chung, pro-Japanese commander of the 38th Division became chief authority in the area.

To Reject Any Interference.

In Tokyo, Japan's, foregn minister, Koki Hirota, told the diet the Japanese government would reject any "interference" by a third power in the conflict.

Japanese officers declared the acute situation compelled them to ignore "earlier assurances not to expose the city's foreign residents to peril."

Wave on wave of bombing squadrons set many of Tientsni's principal buildings afire, particularly the railroad center, and burned the international bridge connecting the foreign concessions and the Chinese city.

Bombs rained on densely populated Chinese quarters. One village, on Tientsin's outskirts, was an inferno.

Both at Tientsin and Peiping, Americans huddled in the cellars of the foreign concessions and swarmed for safety in embassy compounds, spurred to shelter by memories of the wave of foreign slayings during the Boxer rebellion of 1900.

American Investments.

American commercial investments in the area total about $25,000,000 mostly in Tientsin. In Washnigton, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said a wholesale evacuation of Americans would be

SECOND QUARTER EARNINGS OF REPORTING COMPANIES HIGHER THAN FOR SAME PERIOD 1936

By A. A. PATTON,
(Associated Press Statistician)

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—Second quarter earnings of the first 168 reporting companies were 13 per cent above the comparable period a year ago at $345,402,313, a compilation by the Associated Press showed today.

The rate of gain over the previous year dropped substantially in the latest quarter, the result primarily of drastic declines in profits of General Motors and Chrysler.

Rising costs and inability of the big motor makers to operate at capacity because of strike tieups were said in trade circles to have been the underlying cause of the setback.

Steel producers headed the list of gainers. The first 15 concerns in this group issuing statements for the quarter chalked up a $47,540,183 net income against $20,790,157 in 1936, a 129 per cent advance.

Analysts pointed out, however, the tabulation did not include the two bigegst independent steel companies that were strike-bound for a considerable period, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Building equipment concerns in the second biggest recovery in profits, up 65 per cent. Although construction slackened somewhat in the period as building costs mounted, new structures were erected at a substantially faster rate this yea rthan last.

Other groups doing better than average were Petroleum Products, up 62 per cent, machinery manufacturers, up 57 per cent, railroads 33 per cent, automobile accessories 17, chemicals 15 and utilities 14.

COTTON PLANTERS URGED TO IMPROVE QUALITY OF STAPLE

E. A. MILLER, AGRONOMIST, A. AND M. COLLEGE, PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

The suggestion and advice that each community adopt one type of cotton variety, procure a start of pedigreed seed and keep a high grade of planting first year seed was given a meeting of farmers and others interested at the county courthouse Wednesday afternoon by E. A. Miller, agronomist of Texas A. and M. College. H. C. Robinson, county agent, presided at the meeting and presented the speaker.

Mr. Miller outlined the drop in quality of staple in the blackland and other sectors of Texas, and suggested that one variety of seed of the first class would aid materially in regaining the ground lost by Texas producers in the export trade. He pointed out that the better grades bring a better price and that the staple must be improved if the place in export trade is to be maintained.

The speaker pointed out that governmental figures show that only 50 1-2 per cent of the Texas cotton last year was 15-16ths inch staple or better and that in some instances Texas cotton was not suitable for the export trade and buyers left Texas and went to other southern states to fill their special orders and requirements of spinners and other users of

ANCIENT CLIFF DWELLERS ARE REVEALED AS NOT MEAT-EATERS ALONE; ALSO ATE VEGETABLES

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—The ancient cliff dweller—always considered a strict meat eater—used to go in for vegetable palattes.

National Park service workers dug up some pre-historic tidbits in the ruins of Montezuma Castle national monument, Arizona, and quietly carted them off for identification.

Fred Gibson of the Boyce-Thompson southwestern arboretum has just rushed his findings to Washington. There were specimens of corn, beans, onions, and squash.

Nobody knows their age. Furthermore, it doesn't look as if anyone is going to find out, but the park service believes it definitely has something.

The heading of its announcement reads:

"Vegetable plate a la cliff dwelers."

Montezuma Castle was built so long ago that the Apaches, who occupied the valley below at the advent of the white man, had forgotten legends about the origin of the structure.

The park service people also found some oak gall, used by discriminating cliff dwellers as an estringent, and some hackberry ruins about which they aren't certain.

A suggestion has been made that the hackberry served as the base for a pre-historic cocktail.

The federal experts are a trifle disappointed about one feature of the findings—there was no spinach.

Does this mean that cliff dwellers had no spinach?

Or, did they like it so well they devuored every scrap?

That's something to dog dietitians for a century.

Pasadena Bridge Fast Being Made Suicide-Proof

PASADENA, July 29.—(AP)—Colorado Street bridge, from which 91 persons have plunged to their death, was nearly "suicide proof" today.

One side of the concrete span across the Arroyo Seco has been lined with a 7 1-2 foot high fence, crowned by barbed wire. The rest will be completed in a few days.

The stigma of a suicide, meanwhile, was recorded for a third time against the Los Angeles city hall. An unidentified man, about 35, stepped out of a window on the 20th floor and fell 10 stories to a jutting roof.

TEXAS PANHANDLE FARMERS URGE CONGRESS TO APPROVE AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

AMARILLO, July 29.—(AP)—Congress was urged today by a representative group of Texas Panhandle farmers to forego any thought of adjournment until leggislation similar to that proposed by the American Federal Farm Bureau is passed.

The group, members of the Texas Agricultural association from 43 Panhandle-Plains counties, at a meeting here yesterday went on record as favoring the "ever normal granary" bill proposed by the farm bureau.

An adopted resolution read: "We favor a program to provide an ever-normal granary as a matter of public interest. We insist it not be done at the expense of the producers. Parity prices in years of normal supply must be provided for if agriculture is to absorb its share of the rising costs of industry and labor. x x x We further favor positive controlled production."

Donald Kirkpatrick of Washington, general counsel of the federation, explained the farm bureau bill to the meeting, attended by 1,500 members of the Texas association.

He said that while marketing quotas of the measure make possible penaliation of those who do not co-operate, it is not regimentation of farmers but regimentation of surpluses.

YOUTH INVESTED AS FIRST EGYPTIAN KING IN CENTURIES

FAROUK THE FIRST TAKES OATH BEFORE CHAMBER AND SENATE THURSDAY

CAIRO, Egypt, July 29.—(AP)—A stalwart, firm-chined youth of 18, his majesty Farouk the first, was invested today as the first king of an independent Egypt since the Mameluke rulers were conquered by Turkish hordes in the 16th century.

With a dignity far beyond his years, the husky shouldered monarch took oath before his assembled chamber and senate.

He became King of Misr, lord of Nubia and the sudan and sovereign of Kordofan and Darfour to the wild acclaim of 15,000,000 subjects and a display of fanfare and ritual within this ancient capital.

He vowed "by almighty God to respect and obey the constitution and laws of the Egyptian people, safeguard my country's independence and defend its territory."

Shouts of "Yehia el malek!"—"Long live the king!"—throughout his land echoed the acclaim that broke out among the select assembly in the parliament building.

There is no crown of Egypt and the ceremony was an investitude rather than a coronation in the western sense. The suggestion that Farouk should be crowned with the 3,000-year-old diadem of Tut-Ankh-Amen had

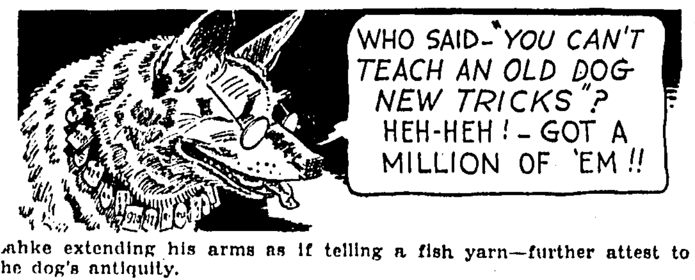
18-YEAR-OLD DOG THRIVES ON CANDY AND ICE CREAM

By TOM SMITH

CINCINNATI, O., July 29.—(AP)—Patrick Henry, it seems, cares not for death, but is concerned only with liberty—and ice cream.

Patrick Henry is only a German shepherd, but at 18, says Harry Lahke, his druggist owner, is "just about the best hold-up insurance I've got."

Pat wears 16 annual license tags on his shoulder harness. Others, Lahke explains, have been lost. Registration papers "that long"—with Lahke extending his arms as if telling a fish yarn—further attest to the dog's antiquity.



WHO SAID-"YOU CAN'T TEACH AN OLD DOG NEW TRICKS"? HEH-HEH! - GOT A MILLION OF 'EM!!

Besides possessing a child-like fondness for ice cream and candy, the dog is almost human, Lahke boasts, in his fastidious "demand" for cleanliness.

"He has to have his face washed every morning and dried with a clean towel," the owner says.

"As regularly as I go to the bathroom to shave, in comes Pat, to be washed. He'll sit and watch until the last bit of lather scrapes off. Then it's his turn. If I get a used towel—nothing doing. If I start out without drying his face, I feel a tug at my wrist, and I've got to go back and finish the job."

POSSIBILITY OF EVACUATION AMERICAN CIVILIANS BEING CONSIDERED SECRETARY STATE

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today that possible evacuation of American civilians from Peiping was being considered as an eventuality to be met in the present Sino-Japanese crisis.

He made the statement at his press conference shortly after it became known that President Roosevelt was keeping in constant touch with far eastern developments to determine, among other things, whether the neutrality act should be invoked.

The secretary said no decision had yet been reached on the question of evacuating American nationals. He added, however, the question of preserving the safety of all foreigners in Peiping was a subject of continuous conferences among American embassy officials and the representatives of other foreign governments.

There are approximately 675 Americans listed as residents of Peiping, most of whom are affiliated with religious and educational institutions. In addtion a force of 500 men and officers comprises the American marine guard for its embassy.

Hull emphasized that the Japanese government has given assurances that foreign lives nad property would be protected and that the Nanking government of China had assumed the same general attitude. He indicated that because of this, only reasons of utmost urgency would impel the United States government to suggest that American men and women in Peiping leave that city.

Stephen T. Early, press secretary, told newsmen the President was in telephonic communication last night and this morning with the state department and would continue to watch every development in the critical situation.

He recalled that under the law the president does not have to wait for a formal declaration of war to put into effect the neutrality provisions prohibiting arms, ammunition and credits to belligerents.

The president, it was added, must decide for himself when a state of war exists and then he is obligated to invoke the law against belligerents on both sides.

In addition to watching the situation with respect to possible neutrality action, Early said safety of American nationals at Peiping, scene of the principal fighting, was of primary concern.

OIL INDUSTRY IS AWAITING MARKET REACTION TO TEXAS PRODUCTION WITH ANXIETY

AUSTIN, July 28.—(AP)—The oil industry is awaiting with some anxiety the market reaction to Texas' production of approximately 1,500,000 barrels a day after next Saturday.

This amount was 100,000 barrels more than that recommended for Texas by the United States bureau of mines. The bureau's recommendation for the nation was 3,462,000 barrels.

The national oil flow last week was estimated at around 3,580,000 barrels a day, some 150,000 barrels more than the bureau's July recommendation and up approximately 16,000 barrels daily from the previous week's output.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, maintained Texas production next month would not be greatly out of line with demand. He said consumption of petroleum products was higher in August than in any other month, yet the Texas allowable on August 1 would be less than 4 per cent larger than that on July 31.

California, New Mexico and Michigan have been the principal "offenders" lately in percentage of production above bureau of mines estimates. Their output last week was estimated to be more than 10 per cent greater than the bureau's July recommendation.

Thompson would give no opinion as to what effect the Texas increase for next month would have on the crude price. Some informed persons thought, however, a price rise would not have come regardless of the production boost because it is too near the end of the peak gasoline consumption period.

Texas production will be cut back again this fall if the commission follows its policy of recent years. C. V. Terrell, commission chairman, said refiners using Texas oil would be requested to testify at the next monthly proration hearing concerning whether their crude stocks are adequate.

Officials of the producing states which are members of the interstate oil compact expressed confidence congress would ratify extension of the pact for two more years before its adjournment.

The senate mines and mining committee approved the extension with Senator Marvel M. Logan of Kentucky, the group's chairman, observing that compacts such as the oil agreement "preserve the rights of each separate state and at the same time enable the signatory states to work together on a sound program which all of them will accept."

TERRORISTS ACTIVE DURING VISIT KING AND QUEEN IRELAND

BOMBS, ARSON AND GUNFIRE MARK HOSTILE GREETINGS TO MONARCHS

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 28.—(AP)—Terrorists shattered the peace of Belfast and Ulster's Free State border with bombs, arson and gunfire today in hostile greeting to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Police blamed the outbreak on Irish republicans.

While the King and Queen, on a coronation visit, were driving to the Belfast city hall through crowded streets, a gas main explosion a half mile away boomed through a wide area of Belfast.

After the British sovereigns were received at the city hall, attended a state luncheon and a garden party, and saw a parade of youth organizations, investigators decided the gas explosion probably was accidental.

However, the royal ulster constabularly at Belfast said they were investigating the possibility that the blast might have been caused by a land mine.

Other explosions and disorders, including the burning of 28 customs houses between Carlingford and Bundoran, were attributed to a "big plot," rumors of which had reached the ears of authorities last week.

King Replied to Address.

At the city hall the king replied to an address of welcome by saying:

"We cannot thank you enough for the kidness and warmth of the welcome you have given us. We are delighted to find ourselves among you once again to renew our acquaintance with our olyal people of Northern Ireland, whom we wish ever-increasing prosperity and happiness."

The King and Queen heard the explosion, but no change was made in the coronation program. An estimated million persons jammed the streets to see the sovereigns on their nine hour visit.

At the city hall, the King made a brief impromptu reply to addresses of welcome. Then the monarchs drove 12 miles through crowded streets to lunch at Government House.

The explosion—whether it was accidental or planned—came as a climax to a carefully-laid campaign of terrorism which flared along the Irish Free State frontier a few hours before the arrival of the British sovereign.

Apparently the only casualty of the gas explosion was a child and was only slightly injured, but every pane of glass within a 300-yard radius of the shattered main was broken.

Railway Bridge Dynamited.

Today's terrorism began with the dynamiting of a railroad bridge 10 minutes after passage of a crowded excursion train bound for Belfast. The span was partly wrecked.

Roving bands of incendiarists and dynamiters destroyed British customs houses along this side of the border. Gasoline was splashed over at least a dozen of the small wooden buildings and then fired.

At one point several were blown up while an armed band held police at bay.

Authorities attributed the outbreaks of "republican extremists" and carefully kept word of them from their Majesties.

Policemen were stationed on the roofs of several of Belfast's centrally located buildings to keep close guard on the throngs watching the royal procession.

The border outrages were believed to have been executed to keep out the influx of thousands of persons loyal to the crown and who came from the Free State yesterday and today.

Railway officials hastily dispatched crews to inspect all bridges in the border area, fearful that other mines might have been laid.

Telegraph communication between northern Ireland and the Free State was severed by the bridge blast.

The border situation was regarded as tense since authorities feared reprisals might follow the outrages.

Police combed the region in an intense hunt for the terrorists.

Clowning Hard Work for Comic

Mr. and Mrs. Parkyakarkas

Before the microphone with Cantor

Despite the fact that Parkyakarkas is noted as a Greek comedian, he cannot speak a word of the language and picked up his dialect from observing Greeks who visited his father's importing firm. Parkyakarkas was born Harry Einstein and recently married beautiful Thelma Leeds, herself a star of show business. Clowning is a very serious business to Parkyakarkas and one which involves considerable hard work and application. His first break came when he was guest-starred on the Eddie Cantor program, clicked in sensational manner, and went on to win fame and fortune as an entertainer.

SURVEY OF COMPARATIVE SEA POWER SHOWS GREAT BRITAIN IS FAR AHEAD UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—A navy department tabulation of the world's comparative sea power disclosed today Great Britain was far ahead of other nations.

The British navy now consists of 285 warships of 1,216,398 tons, the figure showed. It has under construction 96 more ships of 541,000 tons.

The United States navy is second. It has 325 ships of 1,083,330 tons (including 212 wartime vessels of 214,100 tons considered over-age.) Eighty-seven ships of 335,565 tons are under construction.

Germany ranks third in ships being built and virtually will double its present navy soon.

After Great Britain and the United States, the other sea powers rank:

Japan, 200 ships of 745,604 tons, and 23 ships of 79,272 tons under construction; France, 162 ships of 469,346 tons, and 42 of 174,143 tons under construction; Italy, 206 ships of 396,683 tons, and 67 of 147,500 tons under construction, and Germany, 77 ships of 147,632 tons and 38 of 262,482 tons under construction.

Navy officials said the figures for Japan, Italy and Germany might not be complete.

Four men were arrested at Omagh. They were armed with revolvers and had rifles strapped to their bicycles.

Strong wooden barriers and thousands of police standing shoulder to shoulder walled the 12-mile route of the procession of King George and Queen Elizabeth through the city.

Airplanes were forbidden to fly anywhere near the procession and newspaper cameramen were informed they might not approach within 30 feet of the royal pair.

Let Conscience Be Your Guide At the Beach

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer.

Hints to surf bathers are never sufficient.

In spite of pointed glances from the beach and whistling by lifeguards they persist in swimming in their own sweet way and vaporting in their own abusive manner.

Beach bathing is a co-operative enterprise. Because of crowds, and with individual as well as collective comfort in mind, each beach has its own rules. They should be observed.

Some beaches, for instance, don't allow swimmers to bring lunch boxes. They provide stands and pavilions—with paid attendants to collect all the debris.

HEY, POP, MOM SAYS THE LIFEGUARD'S GETTING PAID TO KEEP HIS EYE ON THINGS.
PAPERS

Notes for Lunchers.

If you go to a beach where it's permissible to take your own lunch, however, here are two notes:

Always remember to keep your lunch box closed—for your own benefit. You don't want your food garnished with sand.

Put the papers and refuse in containers provided for that purpose or roll them up and put them back into your lunch box until you can get rid of them.

All beach equipment belongs to somebody. Just because an especially attractive chair doesn't have an occupant when you spot it, don't take it for granted it will remain empty all afternoon.

Confine your baseball, badminton and other games to your own territory.

Watch Your Chairs.

Most beaches have regulations about where you can put cabanas, chairs and umbrellas. If you set them up in the lifeguard's line of vision, for instance, you'll only have to move them.

Wet bathing suits and hair are definitely allergic to sand. If you must bury people it's a good plan to make sure your friends don't object to that particular method of embalming.

Dont' swim beyond the last buoy or rope or whatever limits the beach authorities set up.

And last, but definitely not least, exercise a little consideration when you leave your locker room. You don't relish trailing across a pile of wet towels to the bench to undress or dress, do you? Neither does the other fellow.

Booth Tarkington Quietly Observing 68th Birthday

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., July 29.—(AP)—Booth Tarkington's 68th birthday found the "gentleman from Indiana" immersed today in a new novel and a series of magazine short stories.

Although the creator of "Penrod" and other unforgettable word portraits of youth planned no formal observance, his friends were sure to call for a bit of "shop talk."

Since 1930, an eye ailment has forced abandonment of the drawingboard, pencils and paper with which most of his novels were produced.

Former Corsicana Student Escaped Injury In Crash

This morning's edition of the Houston Chronicle had two pictures on page one that will be of interest to Corsicana persons.

The plane fell about 800 feet and was demolished, but neither Richardson or Larson received a scratch. The plane's fall was broken by striking a maze of telephone wires.

Richardson attended Corsicana high school and was a star football player.

FOUR MEN DIED IN FLAMING TRUCK AND AUTOMOBILE CRASH

ACCIDENT OCCURRED NEAR WINDTHORST EARLY WEDNESDAY

WICHITA FALLS, July 28.—(AP)—Four men met flaming death about 1:30 o'clock this morning when a light sedan carrying oil field workers collided with a loaded gasoline truck and burned, 10 miles south of Windthorst on highway 66.

The dead are:

Charles Moffitt, 25, Fort Worth; Elvis C. Brannen, 18, Fort Worth; E. E. Brumley, oil field driller at Bryson, and a fourth man tentatively identified as L. Beck, oil field worker.

Moffitt, Brumley and Beck were believed to have been killed instantly. Brannen was conscious when help arrived and said he had been asleep in the truck when the tragedy occurred.

He died shortly after reaching the Archer City Hospital where the quartet was taken.

It is believed the accident was a head-on collision. The truck, driven by Moffitt, had left a refinery in Wichita Falls about midnight and was headed toward Fort Worth where Moffitt and a brother, V. A. Moffitt, operated a filling station.

The light sedan, occupied by Brumley and Beck, was traveling toward Wichita Falls.

The bodies were partially identified by papers found on them by Archer county Sheriff Dutch Gosler. Brannen's father, N. Q. Brannen, and V. A. Moffitt were notified at Fort Worth and corroborated the identification upon their arrival.

Jailer Pickering Ill.

O. Q. Pickering, jailer at the Navarro county jail, is at his home, 914 South Eighteenth street, due to illness. He was taken to his home Wednesday afternoon. Jack Floyd, deputy sheriff, is the jailer during Pickering's absence.

Corporation Court.

One car was tagged by the city police department for parking in a fire lane at the Grand Theatre Wednesday night.

A large red tricycle, trimmed in white, has been in the possession of the police department since June 26 when it was recovered by city officers. The owner of the tricycle is not known to the officers, it was reported.

inspection of the State Home.

The committee, according to a statement by Mr. Johnson, is to make a complete survey of all the eleemosynary institutions of the state and make recommendations to the legislature on ways and means of "stopping the leaks" and generally improve the conditions existing in the institutions, both as to personnel and finances.

Mr. Johnson said the committee had no public tsatement to make at this time regarding any institution that they had inspected. Both he and Mr. Smith did say, however, that they had found conditions existing in certain institutions that needed remedying. Ways and means of making the improvements will be suggested to the legislaure, they said, and an effort will be made to pass a law, or amend the present laws, to correct the conditions.

The committee was appointed by Robert W. Calvert, speaker of the house.

Where the Farmer Meets His Friends

CONGRESS

President Roosevelt arranged to confer today with legislators from the sugar states in an effort to work out a bill which could be passed without too much delay.

Back Group of Measures.

Speaker Bankhead and Democratic Leader Rayburn of the house and Democratic Leader Barkley of the senate are listed as back of the wage-hour, housing and court bills, a group of measures on which they said they hoped to obtain action, including the sugur bill, legislation to plug tax loopholes, and crop insurance.

In a highly doubtful category they placed government reorganization and general farm legislation. The house agriculture committee decided yesterday to defer the farm bill until next year.

Tentatively, Barkley said, it was the intention to take up the new court bill after the housing measure.

Barkley said here had been no discussion at the White House of the proposal by Senator Minton (D-Ind) to amend the court bill by requiring that two thirds of the supreme court concur to invalidate acts of congress.

Except for this proposal, senate leaders were confident the new bill to speed up lower federal courts would go through quickly. In fact, they apparently were holding back the measure to forestall the adjournment rush expected to develop after its approval.

Personal Holding Taxes.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Members of a senate-house tax committee talked today of boosting surtaxes on personal holding companies to as high as 70 per cent to restrict their alleged use for tax avoidance purposes.

The present surtaxes vary from 8 to 48 per cent, with the income of the corporations.

The committee met today to discuss taxation of non-resident aliens and perhaps the question of foreign corporations and insurance companies.

Some members indicated they were experiencing difficulty in attempting to work out a method of handling multiple trusts.

It appeared likely the committee might recommend that congress deal only partially with the tax loophole problem this session.

the auditorium on the Cotton Palace grounds.

Lucas said the purpose of the meeting was to adopt ressolutions urging congress to pass speedily legislation which would provide prices for farm commodities at or near parity with other major commodities.

Speakers scheduled to address the gathering were Donald Kirkpatrick, counsel for the American Farm Bureau, Cliff Daf of Plainview and George Chance of Bryan, chairman of the legislative committee of the Texas association.

Kirkpatrick addressed a similar meeting in Amarillo yesterday.

J. C. Patterson, McLennan county agent, said the fact that congress dropped the farm program for this session, would not halt discussion of farm legislation at today's meeting.

Because of the intense heat, around 100 degrees, electric fans were installed in the Coliseum.

Kirkpatrick, arriving shortly before noon from Amarillo, said a vigorous protest would be entered at this afternoon's meeting against the announced purpose of congress to drop farm legislation at this session.

Farouk is the first invested king of Egypt. His father, Fuad, the first, had changed the title from the traditional one of sultan to king.

Glory of Pharoahs Reborn.

The glory of ancient Egypt of the Pharoahs seemed reborn in Cairo and the magnificent Maglis an Nuwwag (parliament building) when the youthful monarch slowly intoned the words that consecrated him to the kingship and brought him to the full inheritance of 60 centuries of tradition.

A young man, still lacking his full majority under Egyptian law, had become ruler of a nation which only last year gained its independence under the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance at the end of 55 years of British military occupation.

Bert Fish, United States minister to Egypt, was present in the diplomatic box at the investiture, alongside princes, ministers and the flower of Egyptian and Arabic nobility.

Concealed radio microphones carried Farouk's vow to the remotest village of his kingdom. At least one loud speaker was installed in every center of population.

gunshot wound inflicted by a hostage.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29.—(AP)—If Roy "Pete" Traxler, Oklahoma and Texas desperado, is extradited to Texas it will be over the opposition of three county attorneys in this state who have filed charges against him.

Fred Cunningham, state pardon and parole officer, said, however, Governor E. W. Marland has indicated he would grant return to Texas of the wounded Texas prison farm escaper now recovering from a wound received when he was captured last week by hostages near Boswell, Okla.

Cunningham pointed out Traxler is alleged to have committed offenses in this state that carry the death penalty "but it is pretty hard to give a man the electric chair when no one was hurt or killed."

Charges Traxler faces in Oklahoma include armed robbery and kidnaping. Various ones have been filed by Ben Carter, Durant,, Bryan county attorney; W. V. Stanfield, Ada, Pontotoc county attorney, and Sam Y. Colby, Madill, Marshall county attorney.

Colby declared he thought no one "has the right to take a prisoner out of a state after a charge has been filed."

Carter said he thought Traxler would not be extradited "without consulting the counties that have a claim on him."

"I think we three county attorneys will fight the extradition," said Stanfield.

Traxler was shot and Fred Tindol, a companion fugitive, slain when their two hostages seized the captors' own guns.

WAGE BILL

the proposed labor standerds board would have authority to fix wages and hours for employes of grain elevators, creameries and processing plants of various kinds.

The result, he claimed, would be to increase the cost of labor to the farmer and to decrease the prices paid him for his products.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) suggested that when he first entered the senate steel mills were employing men 12 hours a day, seven days a week.

"I'm sure the senator wouldn't defend that," Borah commented. Austin said he would not.

"Then there has to be some way to stop it," Borah declared.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Agreements to defer two controversial side issues cleared a path today for a quick senate vote on the administration wage and hour bill.

It faced a further obstacle, however, in the house, whose labor committee wrote in drastic changes.

Senate debate was curtailed by Senator Vandenberg's decision not to press for a vote on his rider, which would have increased union responsibility under the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

Chairman Black (D-Ala) assured Vandenberg the labor committee would hold hearings on his proposal as soon as possible.

In return for a promise by Majority Leader Barkley to consider action at this session on anti-lynching legislation, Senator Copeland (D-NY) agreed not to continue his efforts to take the Wagner-Van Nups anti-lynching bill onto the wage and hour or other measures as a rider.

Proponents of the labor legislation, however, predicted a disagreement between the house and senate.

The house labor committee approved yesterday an amendment empowering an administrative board to fix minimum wages not higher than 70 cents an hour and a maximum work week of not less than 35 hours.

The work week could not be made longer than 40 hours except under special circumstances.

Under the senate bill the board could not fix a minimum wage higher than 40 cents nor a maximum work week of less than 40 hours. Both measures apply only to industries in interstae commerce.

Senator George Attacks Bill

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Senator George (D-Ga) told the senate today that standards provided in the administration's wage-hour bill were "poetry and nothing but poetry."

George, opening a southern democratic attack on the measure, criticized powers proposed in the bill for a wage-hour board, the organization of the board, and authority given the board to use information compiled by the secretary of labor.

Senator Austin (R-Vt), who preceded George said the bill—the Black-Connery measure — would put a strait jacket on labor and mean an economic loss for agriculture.

"One thing is very clear," George said, "the present secretary of labor does not believe in any differential between sections of the country.

"If any differentials are to be allowed, they are inconsequential and wholly inadequate to preserve the great system of agriculture that has grown up under competitive conditions."

ADJOURNMENT

ing but little worked upon plan for reorganizing the executive branch of the government became a matter for more intent legislative consideration today when the senate committee handling it ordered ten days of public hearings beginning Monday.

The committee chose Senator Byrns (D-SC) to succeed the late Senator Robinson (D-Ark) as charIman. Committee members apparently agreed the reorganization program had little chance of enactment this session but they hoped to get it in shape for next session.

The congressional chieftains who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt late yesterday had refused until Rayburn made his three-weeks estimate to fix even a tentative adjournment time.

the main crop of this section.

Make Plans Now.

"Now is the time to make plans for 1937, he stated and asked that the leaders in the various communities get together now and decide upon the type best suited for their respective localities and then sell their neighbors on the proposal. He pointed out that 90 per cent of the Texas cotton was exported and stressed the necessity of meeting the competition from other states and nations.

Miller pointed out that gin-run seed frequently were unsuitable for planting purposes and stressed the desirability of ginning all of the pedigreed seed blocks at one gin and eliminating other ginning from that plant in the interest of keeping the type of seed as pure as possible.

Better Price Assured.

J. J. Bryant of Corsicana, well-known cotton breeder and president of the Texas Cotton Breeders' Association, spoke on the increased price, yield and staple as proven by keeping pedigreed and first class planting seed. He told of organizations in various sections of the country blocking their efforts and planting a small amount of land in pedigreed seed for planting purposes of the entire group the following year, and in that manner, keeping up a high type of product.

Mr. Bryant stated that the Texas experiment station had found a method calculated to materially reduce and eliminate the "root-rot" prevalent in many black land sectors. He stated that it had been found that planting of sorghum on land infested with this condition and then the turning under of the green sorghum about August eliminated the "root-rot" condition for about three years. It was pointed out that this method also was good as a fertilizing project, too.

H. J. Kent, director of the Texas Agricultural Association, urged as many Navarro countians to attend a big mass-meeting of farmers in Waco Thursday afternoon at the Cotton Palace park when the proposed farm program before congress will be discussed along with other problems facing Central Texas agriculturists.

nearby Chinese positions had been set afire by Japanese air bombs.

The Fifteenth Infantry had only half its normal strength available in Tientsin, as half the regiment is in summer camp at Chinwangtao, on the coast northeast of here.

John K. Caldwell, United States consul-general, and his British and Belgian colleagues throughout the day tried to mediate between the Chinese and Japanese to save Tientsin from further destruction, but without any apparent success.

This, the second ranking trade center of China, reverberated to the detonations of bombs throughout the afternoon. The Japanese, using their heaviest planes, announced their determination to wipe out all Tientsin areas "harboring anti-Japanese elements."

All afternoon, Tientsin's million chinese, crowding streets and roottops in the foreign areas or Pieping furtively through shuttered windows of the Chinese districts, sullenly watched the destruction.

They hoped for the arrival of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's air fighters, to whom the Hopeh-Chahar section contributed six planes last year. But none came.

ACTION FARM PRICE STABILIZATION OFF UNTIL NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee announced today that congressional action on farm price stabilization legislation had been postponed definitely until next session.

The announcement came after Jones had met with Speaker Bankhead, Majority Leader Rayburn and members of the committee.

Jones said the committee had decided to follow a course previously decided upon by the senate agriculture committee—to study the legislation at meetings before the nex session of congress convenes in January.

The chairman issued he following statement explaining the decision:

"In view of the differences of opinion among farm interests as to the provisions which new farm legislation should contain, the committee feels that further study should be given before general farm legislation is reported.

"Members of the committee expect to continue their efforts to work out a measure and meetings will be called before the [illegible]ing of next session, in an endeavor to have a bill ready at the first of the next session.

"We expect to go thoroughly into all the proposals that have been submitted by the various farm groups as well as suggestions that have come from members of congress and other sources.

Jones explained that a conference of his committee with erpresentatives of national farm organizations yesterday developed differing views which would be impossble to compose before adjournment.

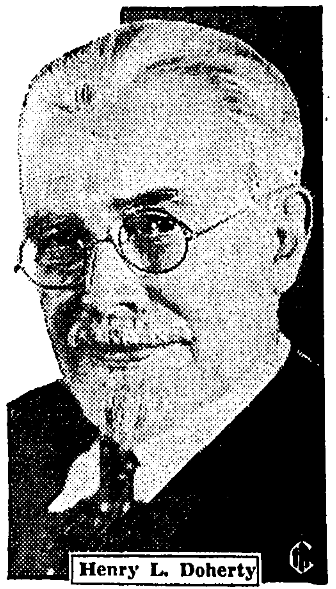
SCIENCE WARRING ON PARALYSIS

Conducting experiment

Testing monkey



Henry L. Doherty

By JEAN ALLEN
International Illustrated News Writer.

NEW YORK.—Science today is looking hopefully upon tests with nose sprays as a method of control for poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis.

Conducted upon the rhesus monkey, only animal known to medicine which reacts to the disease in the same way as a human being, the tests lead to the belief that science may have at last tracked down the avenue by which infantile paralysis enters the body.

Explorers of the test tube have found, inside the noses of children and rhesus mnkeys, the hairline endings of the nerves of smell. These nerves, they say, are the only ones in the entire body which are completely naked to the outside world. The nerves pass from the nose through the bottom of the skull direct to the brain and it is this passage that provides the means of entrance for the dread germ of infantile paralysis.

300,000 Victims.

Aided by funds allocated by the president's birthday ball commission for infantile paralyss research, scientists have been conducting literally thousands of tests with rhesus monkeys, using three different types of nose sprays.

Among the sprays which are being used for research is one made with picric acid and alum. Other experiments are being conducted with sodium sulphate, and still others with a common cold-in-the-head spray having an ephedrine base.

Meanwhile, as the soldiers of science wage their war against the disease on the battleground of the laboratory, in other medical centers scores of the more than 300,000 victims crippled by poliomyelitis are receiving treatment through funds provided by the national birthday ball for the president. Sponsored by Col. Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the movement since its inception, the balls have raised more than $4,000,000 for the war against infantile paralysis during the four years they have been held.

Egypt Once Ravaged.

Eliminating barriers of class, race, creed and political affiliation, the birthday ball movement annnally united more than 6,000,000 persons in the cause of infantile paralysis.

In studying the history of the disease, scientists have found that poliomyelitis ravaged the Egyptians more than 3,000 years ago. Other evidences of the disease also are found in the records of medieval Europe. However, it was not until the middle of the nineteenth century that the disease was officially recognized as infantile paralysis. Since that time many of the world's most renowned scientists have been seeking vainly for a method of control.

At Least Thirty Bodies Recovered From Quake Debris

MEXICO CITY, July 27.—(AP)—Workmen today picked through piles of debris that once were homes and public buildings in Vera Cruz and Puebla states to reckon the cost of Sunday night's earthquake. At least 30 bodies had been recovered.

Stricken telephone and telegraph lines still rendered a complete survey impossible. Piecemeal reports indicated, however, that Maltrata, Vera Cruz, was hardest hit with 16 dead and more than 70 injured counted up to last night. Many were still missing.

Half the buildings of that town of 8,000 were reported leveled. Scores—perhaps hundreds—of residents in the area most severely affected by the tremor were in hospitals or hastily improvised first aid stations.

Excellent Corn And Maize Shown Here

D. U. Langston, who lives on the Clay Nash farm between Corsicana and Corbet, brought to the Daily Sun office Tuesday afternoon some exceptionally fine corn and maize. The corn, the Yellow Dent variety, measured 10 inches and there were 16 to 18 rows of grain on each ear. The maize heads measure eight inches and were well filled. There was no indication of blight on it.

These are typical of the feed crops grown in Navarro county this year which are far above the average.

ALLEGED OFFICER ATTACKED REPORTER IN TEXARKANA CAFE

TEXARKANA, July 28.—(AP)—District Attorney Elmer Lincoln said charges would be filed today against a Bowie county deputy sheriff in connection with an affray involving two deputies and Wensel Fultun, Texarkana Gazette reporter.

Fultun said he incensed the officers last night by inquiring the disposition of a certain justice court case. Fultun and witnesses said the reporter was preparing to dine in a cafe when a deputy approached him, snatched off his spectacles and raised a stool above him.

Bystanders, they said, grabbed the officer. His companion then threw the reporter to the floor and choked him while the other deputy kicked him, they said.

The deputies said Fultun was "resisting an officer."

Henry Humphrey, managing editor and general manager of the Gazette, conferred with Lincoln, Sheriff Brooks and Justice of the Peace Fred Hoffman concerning the case.

THE F. B. I. SCHOOL

The second class of the Justice Department's school for police officers has just begun its study in Washington. It is composed of 37 men from many parts of the country. They are to be put through a twelve-week course of intensive training in law enforcement, finger-print identification work, record-keeping, police administration and organization. Members of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are the instructors. The first class will graduate late in July. There are to be three classes a year.

It ought to be a good thing, giving more local policemen the training which has made the G-men so successful in their work. Some cities have training schools for their police. It is well, however, to have a link with the Federal Department of Justice, familiarizing local groups with the methods of the national group, enabling them to work together more harmoniously and successfully in pursuit of criminals who flit from city to city for their big jobs and their hide-outs.

BEST PROFESSIONAL INCOME

Prof. Harold F. Clark of Columbia University has compiled a table showing the working life span and the present value of average earnings for a working life time in 16 occupations. A young doctor, for example, may expect a working life of 42 years and an income the present investment value of which is $108,000.

In a hypothetical case, Prof. Clark says, a banker would be safe in giving a mortgage of that amount on a young doctor, the latter pledging all his future earnings to the banker. The difference between the $108,000 and the doctor's total earnings would be the banker's profit—4 per cent compound interest for 42 years.

In this table the doctor has the highest income prospects. The lawyer, dentist, engineer, architect follow in order. The journalist is farther down the list, but rates ahead of the minister, the library worker and the public school teacher. The farm laborer is lowest in the sixteen occupations. The present value of his aveage earnings for a working lifetime of 51 years is only $10,400.

We've heard a good deal in recent years of the difficulty the professional man has to earn a decent living. Unless Prof. Clark's statistics are at fault, we may have to revise our opinions, and we'll see more young people taking up medicine and law.

WORK FOR VETS

The veterinary profession, says the President of the New York State association, "has developed so fast that it is no longer a branch of the medical profession, devoted to sick animals, but is a profession with many branches, devoted to such varied problems as meat and milk hygiene, public health work and the scientific treatment of poultry."

F might have added, from observation of city activities, that veterinaries hav become storekeepers, supplying the pet-loving public with dog leashes, birds and bird cages, goldfishes and goldfish bowls, frogs, turtles, ant-eggs and numerous oth accessories of wild life in city living rooms.

It's a useful service, too, helping as it does to keep city life in some slight contact with nature.

PANTRY RAIDERS

Let covers of the chairs grow dim
Let carpets lose their luster bright,
But fill the ice box to the brim
For raiders coming home at night.
Hide jewels in a strong box deep,
But leave the sweets upon the shelves.
A well stocked pantry try to keep
And let the youngsters help themselves.

Let doorways creak and curtains flop;
Let fashion leave us far behind,
But still keep ginger ale and pop
On hand for thirsty kids to find;
Beyond their reach put treasures rare,
But still be sure to order more
Bologna when you see none there
And never lock the ice box door.

This rule for happiness I make:
Be sure to keep the pantry stocked,
Leave out the wedge of chocolate cake,
And never let the door be locked;
Leave out the crackers and the pie,
The jam and honey in the comb,
And smile as out the youngsters fly
To raid the shelves when they come home.

INLAND SEA MONSTER.

The season's first sea monster has been reported from the most surprising place—the White River in Arkansas. A "responsible land owner and a filling station proprietor" saw the strange creature lurking in the stream. It was "as wide as an automobile and as long as three automobiles."

The men promptly reported their experience to the state game and fish commission and asked for permission to shoot the creature or blast it out of the water with dynamite. The commission refused. It is against the law either to fire a rifle into water or to use dynamite for anything except to locate a body.

That decision may save the "responsible" gentlemen from humiliation and ridicule. An uncaptured sea monster is far more impressive than a captured one. The latter usually turns out to be a big fish, or floating rubbish, or something else not at all monsterish.

GOLD PROBLEM.

This is what you might call the Golden Age for Uncle Sam, anyway. He has more than $12,000,000,000 worth of gold in the treasury, and a stream still pouring in. It is more than half the monetary gold in the world. If the flow continues, as it will if the government keeps its buying price higher than the normal world price, Uncle may have, within a few years, practically all the loose gold there is.

What will he do with it then? No public explanation of the government's gold-buying policy has been given. The following suggestion is no attempt to explain, but is merely offered as an interesting flight of fancy.

Suppose, when the United States Treasury has finally stored in bank vaults and Kentucky caves all the world's free gold, Congress cuts the price of the theoretical gold dollar again, declaring that half or less than half of the present metal content shall constitute a lawful gold dollar.

It could then use the gold to pay off the national debt. Or couldn't it?

MORE PHILANTHROPY

A survey of six large cities shows that bequests and gifts for philanthropic causes have increased more than 100 per cent during the last year. The total for the first six months of 1937 was $115,103,196. For the first six months of 1936 it was $50,985,621.

More than half the total, $77,500,915, was given to education. The next largest amount, $28,340,627, went to organized relief. After these, in much smaller sums came donations to health activities, religious causes, foreign relief, miscellaneous reform, fine arts and play and recreation.

Private philanthropy is not vanishing from the United States. Whether these gifts were made because of awakening social conscience or in order to avoid some particular tax, the fact remains that Americans are generous givers and may be easily interested in worthy causes

PEST AGAINST PEST

The saying, "Set a thief to catch a thief," may have a curious variant. Set a pest to catch a pest.

Entomologists are using Amazon flies to destroy the sugar cane borer. Several thousands of the flies have been turned loose in Puerto Rico, where the borer has been doing great damage. The fly deposits a small living maggot near the borer's hole in the cane stalk. The maggot immediately searches out the borer, pierces its outer cover and begins to feed on it.

Amazon flies were first used for this purpose in British Guiana. It was an expensive business, at first, but proved worth while because it saved the sugar

There is another instance of pest destroying pest. It is said that chiggers in the West are turning from human victims to grasshoppers. Similarly a very small parasite has been found which lays its eggs only in the egg-sac of the black widow spider, where the parasite's larvae proceed to destroy young spiders. Some one is now cultivating these insects to increase their numbers in an effort to combat the deadly spiders.

There is a little risk that man will plunge ahead too far in assisting these private wars in Nature, ending one evil but setting up a new one. Perhaps that can be guarded against, however. It is reassuring, anyway, to find that many insects hitherto considered wholly useless are really allies of man.

RAILROAD PASSENGERS

Americans are on the go this summer, and not only are the highways humming but the railroads are booming. Recent reports indicate that they are breaking all records for passenger traffic.

This is mainly due, as is pointed out by a railroad executive, to the three facts of greater comfort, faster speed and reduced cost. There have been more than 8,000 passenger trains and Pullman cars air-conditioned, there are now more than 500 mile-a-minute trains, and the average fare of less than two cents a mile, in coaches, which themselves are much improved, is said to be the lowest in this century.

It is a striking example of the way better service and lower prices can revive an industry that long seemed to be losing ground. From now on the railroads should be able to hold their own, not against automobiles, but along with them.

Peak Infantile Paralysis Cases Believed Past

Dr. S. H. Burnett, county health officer, announced Tuesday he had authorized the removal of the quarantine on the last reported case of infantile paralysis in Navarro county, and that no new cases of the disease had been reported to his office.

No new cases had been reported Tuesday to the office of Dr. William T. Shell, Jr., city health officer, in addition to the one remaining case under quarantine in the city limits.

Dr. Burnett said he believes the peak of the disease is over, but expects a few additional cases in the county before fall. He urged parents to observe the same restrictions on their children that they did when there were numerous cases in the county.

No Clemency For Aged Henderson County Killer

AUSTIN, July 27.—(AP)—The Board of Pardons and Paroles today declined to recommend clemency for George Patton, aged farmer, sentenced to die in the electric chair Friday for slaying Mrs. Carrie McGehee in 1932.

Under Texas law Gov. James V. Allred may grant only one reprieve without recommendation of the board.

The body of Mrs. McGehee, together with those of her husband and two children were found in the same grave on the Patton farm in an isolated place north of Athens.

The board said that after interviewing Patton and reading letters of trial officers it was "unanimously of the opinion the facts amply justify the verdict."

Dining In Honor Mrs. J. A. McGee On Her Birthday

Mrs. J. B. Fortson, Sr., entertained Sunday with a family dining for her mother, Mrs. J. A. McGee on the occasion of her eighty-first birthday.

The table was centered with the three-tier birthday cake iced in white, decorated with garlands of pink roses and green leaves and topped with eighty one pink and white candles.

Covers were laid for fourteen relatives, including one brother, C. M. Sessions and wife of Rockdale; two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Lackey of Rice, and Mrs. H. P. Barkley of Ennis; Mrs. McGee's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Collins and their daughter, Dorothy, and son, James, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fortson, Jr., grandchildren; J. M. McGee, another grandson and his family visited with her in the afternoon.

There is another brother, I. T. Sessions of Rockdale, but he was unable to attend.

Mrs. McGee was the recipient of many favors—flowers, cards, telegrams and gifts not only from friends and relatives in the city but was also remembered in many ways by out of town friends and relatives who wish for her many more happy milestones.

Several pictures were taken of the group.

LAY PLANS FOR TRIAL OF NEGRO CHARGED MURDER

HUGHEY FULTON, ACCUSED OF SLAYING COUPLE, BE TRIED IN CORSICANA

Thomas Pickett, district attorney of the Palestine-Athens judicial district court, was in Corsicana Monday afternoon and conferred with Cleo G. Miller, criminal district attorney, relative to the trial of Hughey Fulton, Henderson county negro, on a murder indictment, scheduled to be started in the Thirteenth judicial district court here Monday, August 2.

The negro received the death penalty in a previous trial in Henderson county in connection with the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. German, near Athens, in September, 1934. The court of criminal appeals reversed and remanded the death penalty because a change of venue was not granted him. The case was transferred to Navarro county on a change of venue several weeks ago.

District Attorney Pickett Monday afternoon stated the state would be ready for trial Monday.

Three negroes were tried in the case. One has been electrocuted and the other was also given the death penalty, but that was reversed and remanded and since that time has been sent to Van Zandt county on a change of venue.

A special venire of prospective jurors has been summoned for the case in addition to the regular jury list for the week.

Joe Anderson and Ramsey Cox have been appointed as defense counsel by District Judge Wayne R. Howell to defend the accused negro, along with H. B. Green of Athens.

Action IS EASIER when facts are known

Are you one of those who wish to include trust service in their estate plans, but are withholding action because some point is not completely understood?
Some men tell us they had put off action because they were not quite sure how their children's education could be planned, how their wives' special needs could be met, or how tax and investment matters might be handled.
There is no need to delay for this reason. A talk with our trust officers will give you the information you want. We invite you to come in at any time to get the facts.

INCREASED INTEREST IN MANUFACTURE OF AMERICAN CHEDDAR

DEMAND FOR CHEESE RESEARCH AND TRAINED CHEESE MAKERS GROWING

COLLEGE STATION, July 26.—(Spl.)—Increased interest in American cheddar cheese manufacture in Texas within recent years, with a resultant demand for cheese research and for trained cheese makers, has led to establishment of a cheese section in the dairy husbandry department at Texas A. and M. College.

About a dozen new cheese factories have been opened in Texas within the past few years, Prof. Charles N. Shepardson, department head, said in announcing the addition to the college creamery work. New factories recently have been installed at Winnsboro, Paris, Plainview, Brenham and Alice. Some of the old established factories in the state are at Round Rock, Abernathy, Cameron and Taylor.

Texas, although ranking among the first ten cheese manufacturing states in the country, does not make enough cheese to satisfy its own needs, Prof. Shepardson said. He pointed out that refrigeration costs in cheese curing has handicapped the industry in the state and one of the chief aims in the research work will be to develop a quick curing cheese that still will retain the firm, well-ripened flavor of Wisconsin cheese.

F. E. Hansen of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station staff will be in charge of the research work. A man will be added to the regular dairy husbandry department staff to teach cheese making.

The cheese section at the college will have a daily capacity of about 200 pounds of cheese, the bulk of which will be consumed in the college dining hall. About 2,000 pounds of milk will be required daily to supply the plant.

As an adjunct to the cheese plant, the dairy husbandry department will set up a special dairy herd of about 50 cows, Prof. Shepardson said, with the dual purpose of supplying some of the cheese plant's needs and of serving as a practical demonstration that dairymen in small communities can produce commercial milk at a profit.

The herd will be operated on a strictly commercial basis with equipment such as a small dairyman would have. Separate sets of books will be kept for the herd to prove its practicability.

EXERCISE WITH PLEASURE.

EXERCISE AND LIKE IT

To reduce, to stay young, to have a good figure—these problems are solved by exercises. Miss Forbes will tell you pleasant ways to do this.

E. K. Forbes

You've got to exercise. Well, of course you know that, and I don't really have to remind you. You intend to, you know your hips are spreading and your tummy getting flabby, and you can't walk up a steep hill without getting badly out of breath. You will begin regular exercises— tomorrow. Tomorrow, as you know, is the day that never comes.

If you could find some exercises that were pleasant enough, you'd do them today and every day and you would feel and look better and younger. So let's see if we can't find some that you will like. For legs and hips, now, and general building up—so you can climb those hills like the youngsters—why not ride a bicycle? Second-hand ones are cheap; you can do a lot of your household errands with them and visit nearby friends, if you live in the country or the suburbs.

We are so used to cars we ride everywhere without effort, or we hop a trolley or take a bus. Bicyling costs nothing; it will strip off flabby fat, or round out thin legs, strengthens and slenderize the ankles, make the hips round yet slender, and all muscles firm. Helps the abdomen, too, and happens to be a lot of fun. You'll like it as much as the children. Fun—and here's another one that's fun:

Buy a four-pound medicine ball. Make someone play with you—the children, your husband, your brother—anyone to start—for in no time your whole neighborhood will be coming in to play. Toss it first from your right shoulder, then from your left, ten or more times, then hold it way back over your head, and throw and catch it with the arms over the head. Fine for posture and round shoulders and a flat chest. Bend over and throw it low, from between your knees. Catch it the same way. Throw it by pushing it off the chest; catch it against your chest. You'll warm up, your blood will dance with exhilaration.

K. L. C.—It is possible that the blood cleanser is still active in your system, and the only way you will be able to stop these eruptions from appearing on your skin is to have a much more thorough cleansing than you have done with the sulphur tablets. There was a superficial cleansing that made the skin clear in the start, but you must need something now. Possibly you have a packed colon and will have to get that thoroughly cleansed. A few colonic irrigations will show you just what that will mean, as often the skin shows some clearing even while the irrigations is in progress. You have stirred up this toxic condition, and it will keep working out on your skn unless you clear up thoroughly and in the way that will do it quickly for you.

E. B. C.—As your skin freckles, you will gain nothing by using bleaches to get this off. Some persons tan and generally their skins are not so fine as the other kind; even so, there is nothing to be done about it, for with each it is nature's protection to esav the life of the cells under the skin that would be injured by certain rays. If you did succeed in bleaching out of the skin this protective pigment, nature would accumulate some more, and freckles would result. The skin all the time would be devitalized through these powerful bleaches, and also from the unnatural exposure to rays in between the experiences.

New York Cotton Opens Lower

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 2 to 5 lower under hedge selling and on a private crop estimate of 15,010,000 bales. Oct. 11.02; Dec. 10.99; Jan. 11.00; March 11.08; May 11.14; July unquoted.

The first private end-July crop estimate to appear was considerably above recent ideas which had seemed to center around production figures of 14 1-2 million bales. Sentiment was correspondingly discouraged.

There was considerable foreign selling through Liverpool at the start.

December eased from 11.00 to 10.87 and shortly after the first half hour prices were at the lows thus far, representing net losses of 9 to 14 points.

A private condition figure of 80.8 per cent of normal represented a slight gain from the end-June condition by the same expert and compared with the government's August 1 condition last year of 72.3 per cent and an average 1923-32 condition of 67.7 per cent.

Liverpool ruled steady with speculators cautious awaiting crop developments.

After easing to within 1 to 6 points of Monday's extreme lows for net losses of 19 to 21 points, selling pressure tapered off and slight rallies followed. The market had a sold-out appearance following the recent drastic decline of $8 and $8.50 a bale.

Trading became quiet and on a small volume of covering December sold up from 10.80 to 10.86 which left the market at net losses of 12 to 17 points.

New Orleans Cotton Quiet.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—(AP)—Cotton opened quiet but steady today and first trades were 2 points lower on all months on the execution of a few overnight selling orders.

Foreign markets were about as expected and there was nothing in the news reports to stimulate trading on either side.

Oct. opened at 11.01, Dec. at 11.06, Jan. at 11.11, March at 11.17 and May at 11.23. There was sporadic selling of near months after the start and towards the end of the first half hour these positions were ruling 12 to 13 points under the previous close.

General selling was encountered late in the morning on the favorable weather and a private crop estimate of over 15,000,000 bales. At mid-session active positions had receded to levels 14 to 16 points net lower.

The private report estimated production at 15,610,000 bales, somewhat larger than general expectations and based on the official acreage estimate, minus average abandonment, would indicate a yield above 215 pounds per acre.

Long liquidation and some short selling was apparent and in the absence of buying support prices were left to drift of their own weight.

The weather map showed practically the entire cotton growing region was dry with temperatures still high.

Corn Is Grain Market Leader

CHICAGO, July 29.—(AP)—Corn became the grain market leader today, and plunged down in some cases four cents a bushel, the extreme permissible limit for any 24 hours.

Unusually favorable prospects of the 1937 domestic corn crop formed the basis for heavy selling, and the December future representing the new crop tumbled to a fresh bottom price record for the season. Notice was also taken that acute feed shortgae was being relieved by substitutes for corn.

At the close, corn was 1 7-8 to 4 cents under yesterday's finish, Sept. 93 5-8, Dec. 70-70 1-8, wheat 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 down, Sept. 1.17-1.17 1-8, Dec. 1.18 7-8 1.19, and oats 3-4 to 1 cent off.

Policeman Must Die In Chair For Killing Neighbors

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—(AP)—Martin J. Sullivan was sentenced today to die in the electric chair for slaying five neighbors in DuQuesne, Pa., where he had been a policeman more than 20 years.

The date of the execution will be fixed by Governor George H. Earle.

A jury had convicted the 70-year old Sullivan of fatally shooting Mrs. Laura Bacon, social worker, last December.

Sullivan later pleaded guilty to slaying four others on the same night.

The state contended Sullivan committed "mass murder" against the neighbors because he blamed them for his arrest on a morality charge involving a little girl.

RALLYING TENDENCY IN STOCK MARKET IS ONLY SLIGHT TODAY

MOST STEEL STOCKS RESPOND HALF-HEARTEDLY TO EARNINGS REPORTS

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—A few steels and specialties pushed up substantially in today's stock market but many leaders lacked rallying stamina and small losses were plentiful at the finish.

Bethlehem attracted a following as guesses on the company's second quarter earnings, to be released after the close, ranged from $2 to more than $2.25 a share. The issue was up nearly 2 points at the best. Wheeling Steel got up more than 3.

Brokers though buyers were intimidated partly by misgivings regarding an early adjournment of congress and growing seriousness of war news from the Far East.

Dealings were extremely light throughout. Transfers were around 650,000 shares.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—Most steel stocks responded only half-heartedly to favorable earnings statements in today's market and rallying tendencies elsewhere were lukewarm.

A selective upturn at the opening was followed by quiet selling which reduced initial ganis of fractions to a point in many instances. Volume was much under yesterday and prices were uneven near the fourth hour.

Bethlehem Steel was in demand as the company's report, due after the close, was expected to make pleasing reading. Steel men also interpreted advancing scrap rates as a sign better business is in the offing.

On the other hand, brokers said buying lacked vigor partly because of renewed misgivings regarding an early adjournment of congress and the outcome of the far eastern war flare-up.

Another break in cotton futures on private estimates of greater crop acreage was a depressant for stocks. Grains and other commodities were mixed, along with bonds.

On the advancing side most of the session, although some failed to hold later, were Wheeling Steel, U. S. Steel, National Steel, American Rolling Mill, Continental Oil, Montgomery, Western Union, Boeing, Loew's, Pure Oil, National Lead, Anchor Cap, Chrysler, Chesapeake and Ohio and American Radiator.

Backward were Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, General Motors, Yellow Truck, Motor Products, Goodyear, Deere, Consolidated Edison, North American Kennecott, Westinghouse, General Electric, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Woolworth, and Commercial Solvents.

Oil company profits figures now appearing sustained shares in this division. The latest, Continental Oil, showed 89 cents in the second quarter against 47 in the same 1936 period.

Curb Stronger.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—Selected industrials joined utility stocks in a forward movement on the curb exchange today.

Higher were American Cyanamid "B," Cord Corp.' and Heyden Chemical.

Among the utilities, fractional advances were shown by Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, United Gas, and United Light and Power "A."

International Petroleum was up slightly in the oil sector.

Royal Typewriter dropped around 8 points as the company's earnings report showed June quarter profits running below the preceding quarter and the like quarter of 1936.

New Haven clock shares eased.

Texas Swelters Under Hot Skies Again Thursday

By the Associated Press

Texans continued today to swelter under hot skies as temperatures in most sections climbed to yesterday's high, in some cases the peak of the summer.

No relief was promised by the weatherman, who predicted continued warm weather for most of the state.

Corsicana and Wichita Falls with 105 and 104 degrees, respectively, were the hottest points reporting yesterday.

The heat wave at Paris, where the thermometer registered 102 degrees, was accompanied by an electrical storm which put out of commission the transmitter of radio station PLT for 55 minutes yesterday afternoon.

Electric fans were installed in the Cotton Palace Coliseum at Waco for an agricultural meeting this afternoon as the temperature climbed toward the 100-degree mark for the fourth consecutive day.

Other high temperatures yesterday were: Abilene, 102; El Paco, 100; San Antonio, 100. Lubbock 100; Amarillo 94; Galveston 98; Dallas 100.

COTTON MEETING IN DALLAS ON MONDAY MORNING CALLED

CITIZENS OF CORSICANA AND VICINITY INVITED TO ATTEND

Citizens of Corsicana and vicinity are invited to join other Texans in discussing cotton and cotton market conditions at a meeting to be held at 10 a. m., Monday, August 2, in the Crystal Ball Room of the Baker Hotel at Dallas, according to Commissioner J. E. McDonald of the State Department of Agriculture.

In calling the meeting Mr. McDonald asked that the assembly take whatever steps that may seem advisable to insure that this year's cotton crop does not suffer market demoralization.

"Pursuant to the many requests, that I, as commissioner of agriculture, call a mass meeting of farmers, merchants, bankers, professional men and all others interested in the welfare of our cotton industry for the purpose of discussing cotton and cotton marketing conditions, and for taking whatever steps that may seem advisable to insure that this year's cotton crop does not suffer marketing demoralization, which would be determined to the general welfare and happiness of the state and nation, I am calling upon all those interested to attend a meeting to be held in the Crystal Ball Room of the Baker Hotel in Dallas at 10 a. m. Monday, August 2.

"The fact that Texas produces practically one-third of the nation's cotton, places upon Texans a responsibility of providing or demanding the provision of, adequate financing and marketng facilities for the nation's greatest agricultural product.

"While it is apparent that the American cotton crop is promising, it is a fact that the cotton crop in foreign countries, as a whole, is disappointing. The burdensome cotton surplus of a few years ago has disappeared and now the carry-over of desirable cotton is not burdensome and the consumption of American cotton for the fiscal year, ending July 31, 1937, is around thirteen and three-quarters million bales, and the cotton mills are now operating with the greatest profit in their history, with the possible exception of a short period during the world war.

"Farmers, merchants, bankers and others have, for the past four years, cooperated with the Federal government in its endeavors to obtain parity price for cotton in order that the farmer might have purchasing power, which would give prosperity to all groups of American citizens.

"Immediate steps must be taken to prevent marketing conditions for this year's cotton crop that will defeat our estabilization endeavors of the past four years. We simply must not allow the confidence in cotton values to be broken and our southland left demoralized and bleeding.

"I urge that all those interested in the welfare of our cotton industry and who realize the responsibility and opportunity will attend this meeting and give benefit of their counsel."

SINO-JAP

undertaken only in a grave emergency.

Three Chinese armies—the 26th 29th and 40th—attacked in concert to gain the strategic Tientsin area and cut Japanese communications with the interior.

Striking at Japanese entrenchments along a 95-mile front, the Chinese carried out their offensive from Tangku, Tientsin's port 20 miles to the east, to Fengtai, Japanese field headquarters west of Peiping.

The attack was sudden, swift and strong. It drove the Japanese from Tientsin's three key railroad stations and the Japanese concession, precipitating furious Japanese aerial artillery bombardment of the city.

The 37th division of the 29th army mysteriously withdrew from Peiping, where all but about 15 of the 675 American resident were quartered in emergency encampments behind the embassy compound gates.

No Chinese Soldiers Remain.

Not a Chinese soldier remained within the former capital for its environs. Peiping's lacework of barricades was ripped down and newly-dug trenches in the main streets were filled in.

One report ascribed the withdrawal to a pre-arranged Sino-Japanese understanding to end the crisis without loss of face. Another suggested the 37th division had made a strategic retreat to join the main Chinese forces toward Tientsin.

Chinese newspapers at Shanghai, angered by the sudden collapse of Chinese resistance at Peiping, accused leaders of a "coup d'etat which betrayed the nation." Unconfirmed reports said a "peace conference" was under way.

Chinese shore batteries opened fire on Japanese destroyers off Tangku, Tientsins port. The Japanese naval force shelled the port city and land forces attempted to silence the Chinese batteries.

Japanese war planes scouted the Chinese coast. Chinese sources said seven Japanese warships were seen in the Formosan straits.

General Gen Sugiyama, Japanese war minister, intimated to the parliament in Tokyo that a clash might come with the central Chinese army and that the conflict might spread beyond North China.

Wholesale reinforcements were being dispatched to China and the lower house passed legislation revising conscription and extending military secrets protection laws.

Secretary Hull And President Confer

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Secretary Hull conferred with President Roosevelt today on the Sino-Japanese crisis in North China.

The secretary told newsmen later that the situation continues to be serious in the far East. He indicated, however, no specific action by the United States government was contemplated at this time.

After Hull had left, the President talked with Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large to Europe. It was not known whether the North China crisis was the subject of the talk.

Hull told newsmen that plans now under consideration for evacuation of American citizens from Peiping also include if they are put into effect, the 550 American Nationals living in Tientsin, scene of the latest fighting between Chinese and Japanese troops.

The secretary added, however, that the possibility of a large scale evacuation of Americans from the two cities still was in the study stage.

Senator Caraway's Son Is In Tientsin

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Lieutenant Paul W. Carraway, son of Senator Hattie W. Carraway of Arkansas, was listed today by the state department as among the Americans at Tientsin, China, scene of an air raid and other fighting in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

A total of 223 military personnel and dependents and 403 civilians were registered by the Tientsin consulate general on January 1. The total strength of the regiment on duty there is approximately 750 officers and men.

Since the Tientsin consular area extends over several sections of Honan and Hopei provinces, the department said it was possible that some of the American civilians listed live outside Tientsin.

Among the Americans registered at the Tientsin consulate general are:

Technical-Sergeant Ernest Beseler, wife Mae, and son, Lonnie, 434 Taft, Ave., San Antonio, Tex.; Edgar H. Fehdlayson, wife, Margaret, and son, Richard, 1511 Sul Ross St., Houston, Tex.; Emmett H. Grooms, and wife, Elizabeth, Rock Springs, Tex.; Sargeans Oliver, W. Howland, wife, Bessie, and son, John, Boerne, Tex; Walter E. Menefee, Lufkin, Texas.

Jap Planes Bomb Tientsin.

TIENTSIN, July 29.—(AP)—Japanese warplanes bombed the city of Tientsin today, endangering the lives of thousands of Americans and other foreigners, in a drastic effort to rout a Chinese attack that threatened to drive the apanese army from its North China stronghold.

The principal buildings of the gateway city to north China, including famous Nankai university, the central railway station and the militia headquarters, were in flames.

The Chinkang international bridge connecting the foreign concessions and the Chinese city was ablaze. Americans were huddling in cellars of the foreign concessions to escape the bombs.

Chinese and Japanese troops were locked literally in a death struggle, fighting hand to hand in the streets with their entrenchments at places less than one hundred feet apart.

Three Chinese armies struck simultaneously during the early morning at Japanese troops entrenched along a 95-mile front in the major drive to force the Japanese army out of north China.

To Reject Interference.

TOKYO, Juply 29.—(AP)—Koki Hirota, Japan's foreign minister told the diet today the government would summarily reject any "interference" by a third power in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

He said he trusted no outside nation would enter the dispute.

Japanese newspapers, repeatedly attacked Foreign intervention in Asiatic affairs. They recalled that Japan never recovered face after France, Russia and Germany offered "friendly advice" in the first Sino-Japanese war, 41 years ago.

Japan, at that time, was forced to return the Liaotung peninsula ceded by China in the Shimouoseki treaty.

MIRACLE MARCH OF FAITH FROM AFRICA INTO ASIA *

Epochal Crossing of The Red Sea By The Israelites Is History's Outstanding Drama Of Divine Providence --- Does the Almighty Still Lead Nations and Individuals?

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

On all of the earth's surface there are only two inter-continental land bridges, both now cut by canals—the Isthmus of Suez and the Isthmus of Panama. It was at the former that the high drama of the Exodus, the deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage, took place. There, amidst miraculous Providences, the Hebrew custodians of the revelation of Jehovah, marched out of Africa into Asia. Throughout all of the ages since, this high event has been commemorated by the Jews of the world.

Now the story flashes again across many millions of printed pages, to reaffirm the awesome truth that the Supreme Being is still the Guide and Guardian of the peoples who profess His name.

There is no profounder truth for present consideration than the proposition that God continues to care for man. This is not a runaway world, despite present appearances. The strife and commotion among nations; the ominous social unrest in masses of people; the new bitterness and conflict in the industrial realm—all these seem signs that God has abandoned humanity to the expression of its own worst passions. It is not easy for faith to perceive, in the midst of struggle and clamor, that God's plans are all long plans, and that He is steadily working His purposes out.

"Thrice blest is he to whom is given
The instinct that can tell
That God is on the battlefield,
When He is most invisible."

A Long Look Backward.

Like us, the suddenly emancipated Hebrews were engrossed in the present moment. They had no consciousness of the long sweep of history. Their four centuries of preparation and discipline in Egypt were neither remembered nor understood. It used to be the fashion, on national anniversaries, for ministers to preach upon "The Hand of God in Our History." For both religious leaders and political statesmen have clearly perceived and set forth the singular interventions of Providence in the affairs of the Nation. Despite our day's panic, that Providence, whom we call our fathers' God, still reigns and rules. He who opened a path through the Red Sea for the Israelites, and guided them by the pillar of fire and cloud, continues to govern the affairs of men.

Moses best understood the long thoughts of God. He was not forgetful of the past. So he kept the injunction that Joseph had laid upon his family, many generations before, that his bones should be carried up out of Egypt and buried in the Land of Promise. Statesman Joseph had foreseen the Exodus. He was only a dim figure in the distant past to these fleeing Jews; but he symbolized God's providence.

A World War Story.

One of the curious stories that I heard, on good authority, in Palestine during the world war was that some Arabs had dug up a grave near Shechum, as they are continually doing all over the East, and had unearthed a body mummified in Egyptian style. It was in an elaborate tomb, evidently of a man of rank, and the body bore shoulder ornaments of gold, and a gold truncheon, and had on its breast a plate of gold, inscribed in Egyptian characters. The Arabs melted this, so the name and history of the mummy will never be surely known. The other ornaments of gold were taken to Jerusalem, and sold to German officers, and are now in a private Berlin museum. The conjecture of experts is that this was probably the tomb of Joseph that the vandals rifled.

This find was made near to the traditional grave of Joseph, which both Moslems and Jews venerated. Though the actual mummy of the greatest of the sons of Jacob may thus have been destroyed, the great idea for which has entombment in Canaan stands is still vocal. Any people worth while will remember their past. They will not forget the forefathers who made them what they are. Reverence for ancestors has been the most stabilizing force in the life of China, the oldest of nations. To honor our father's is to recall our father's God. We think here of the prominent place that the patriarchs held in the memory and literature and religion of the Hebrews. Moses was teaching a great truth when he carried the bones of Joseph out of Egypt.

Pharaoh's Second Thought.

Hitherto we have considered the Hebrew side of the story of the bondage in and deliverance from Egypt. But there is the other side; and we should try to get the Egyptian point of view. While in a panic over the slaynig of their first born, Pharaoh and his people urged the Israelites to depart. Once gone, they realized the gap made in all their life by the absence of these servants. The economic loss was staggering. The whole life of Egypt had come to depend upon these skillful Hebrew bondservants.

So Pharaoh changed his mind, and sent his army, post haste, to bring them back. At the sight of these bannered hosts, on their Galley 2—S. S. Lesson, Aug. 1st. rear, the Israelites set up a clamor of fear. With the characteristics human instinct to blame somebody, they turned upon Moses with reproaches. They were not a heroic lot, those freed slaves. They clamored for bondage, with safety, rather than liberty, with danger and hardship. Their cry echoes today in many parts of the world.

Already Moses had become inured to ingratitude and misunderstanding, which is everywhere and always the lot of the great leader. So with infinite patience he heartened them, and promised another evidence of Jehovah's providence. By faith he could cry, "Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of Jehovah, which He will work for you today: for the Egyptians whom ye have seen today, ye shall see them again no more for ever. Jehovah will fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace." He repeated the Divine "Go Forward!"

How often Moses had to fulfill the role of heartener and inspirer; which is a first duty of every man and woman in even the smallest post of leadership.

What followed is one of the familiar stories of the worlds literature. The Red Sea became dry land before the feet of the Israelites—and returned to engulf Pharaoh's army. Again "with a high hand," Jehovah had brought deliverance to His people.

Tom Sharp is putting down a deep test in the Bazette area.

A test near the Ellis-Navarro county line close to Cryer Creek by the Gigantic company is being put down.

Acreage is being blocked in Hill county between Hubbard and Mt Calm, it is reported in local circles. A test is being made near Dawson.

Local observers are watching Opelika where a deep test has been the center of attention for the past several days.

Prominence Given Photograph Taken By Corsicana Boy

The work of a Corsicana High school boy appears in the last issue of one of the best known scientific publications in the world, the Science News Letter, a great weekly which publishes the latest scientific news in language which the layman can understand. In the last issue the frontispiece shows cracked and crumpled overflow land, and is entitled "Book of Warning."

This frontispiece is from a photograph taken by Clarence Tripp of the Corsicana High school, of it, the magazine says:

"Scrolls without writing, yet loquent in protest against outrage done to the land, and in warning of doom to come unless we presently mend our ways, can be found on any flatland after inundation, when the sun has had time to bake the thin layer of glutinous mud and crack it and curl the edges. For every flooding a new layer is added, until they are piled like leaves of a book, as shown on the front cover of this week's Science News Letter. All the bottomlands of the country have whole libraries of such warning volumes.

"This particular one was read and pictured by a High School student, Clarence Tripp of Corsicana, Texas."

CHAMBER COMMERCE BANQUET AT FROST LARGELY ATTENDED

FRIENDSHIP FURTHER CEMENTED AND COMMON PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

By JOHN SAM HASLAM
Daily Sun Staff.

More than a hundred citizens of Frost and Corsicana joined in a good will banquet Tuesday evening in the basement of the Frost Baptist church to further cement the friendship of the two towns and to enable them to work out problems common to each. It was the second banquet of its kind sponsored by Retail Trade committee of the the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce.

R. W. Knight, Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager, was the toastmaster and principal speaker, and presented several Frost citizens to express their views upon the ways the communities can work out mutual problems all for the forward movement of Navarro county as a whole.

The Corsicana visitors furnished a musical program prior to the talks.

The Worthwhile club of Frost, a women's service organization, served a delicious dinner of fried chicken, potato salad, tomatoes, rolls, pie and iced tea.

Rev. J. S. Huckabee, pastor of the Frost Methodist church delivered the invocation, and after the meal, Mr. Knight had everyone present introduce himself and state his profession. D. P. McDonald, Frost choir leader, led the assembly on one verse of "America."

Musical Program.

Mr. Knight presented Misses Frances and Glenna Watson, harmony duo, who sang several numbers, playing their own accompaniment on two guitars. They sang "Among My Souvenirs," and "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Seen In Me." As the program's final number, they sang and yodeled "Way Out There."

Mrs. O. W. Reece, popular Corsicana vocalist, was presented in two selections, with Mrs. Jack Walker playing her accompaniment. She sang "Friend of Mine." and a popular tune, "Wake Up and Live."

In his talk, Mr. Knight said today is a day of team work and co-operation, and complemented the service clubs as having done much toward teaching an application of the Golden Rule in the conduct of business, instead of the old cutthroat competition. He said business is now handled on a different and higher plane.

"If we get anywhere as a county," he went on, "each town must join hands in constructive county wide effort. Merchants and businessmen must co-operate in helping the farmer increase his spendable income."

He named many ways that Corsicana can help Frost in its problems and many other ways Frost citizens can help Corsicana.

"Whatever your problems may be, we are glad to help you with them if we can," the Chamber of Commerce secretary said.

In closing, Mr. Knight referred to the completion of highway 22 and proposed a big barbecue in celebration.

Frost Mayor Speaks.

He introduced Mayor E. D. McCormick, who spoke on behalf of the citizens of Frost. He said "We are glad to have you, and I assure you you are among friends. There is a great opportunity in gatherings such as this to make goodwill for both towns represented, when more than 100 people interested in the forward movement of their communities get together to work out their mutual problems.

"We have passed through the world's greatest depression, and now we see internal strife in foreign countries, that are just on the borderline of another war. I believe," Mayor McCormick continued, "that such occasions as these and the fine type of people represented here will dispel the causes of war.

"It behooves us to be considerate of each other and to permit each community to work out its own ideals and problems as it sees fit as our present day civilization permits each man to work out his destiny according to his own dictates," Mayor McCormick declared.

He closed by reassuring the Corsicana visitors that Frost was happy to have them present, and that Frost was glad to co-operate in the theme of the series of banquets.

J. E. Laney, Frost newspaper editor, was the next speaker. He said banquets such as last night's were not new, because the principle of neighborliness was taught by our forefathers. He added that it may be a new thing for Corsicana and Frost citizens and he hoped it will result in much good for each of the towns. Referring to the barbecue celebration proposed by Mr. Knight, Mr. Laney extended an invitation for it to be held in Frost.

W. V. Harrison, superintendent of the Frost schools, spoke briefly, and after telling a number of jokes and funny stories, he said that the future of every community is dependent upon the children in school, and the type of education they receive.

Welcome Visitors.

On behalf of the Methodist women who assisted in serving the banquet, Mrs. J. E. Laney welcomed the visitors in an appropriate talk. Mrs. John Ethridge, on behalf of the Baptist women spoke briefly and welcomed the Corsicana visitors.

Rev. D. P. Cagle, pastor of the Baptist church, was called upon for a few remarks, and after telling a funny story, welcomed the visitors.

W. P. McCammon, president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by Mr. Knight, and said some of Corsicana's best people came from Frost and some of Corsicana's best friends live in Frost.

Sydney Marks, chairman of the Retail Trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce said the keynote of the meeting was sounded in Mrs. Reece's song, "Wake Up and Live," and added "but let's do not live selfishly."

Mr. Marks said Frost had met adversity and in its time of trouble Corsicana opened its hearts and hands to help Frost in its rehabilitation.

"We are coming in a spirit of friendliness, not a sprit of commercialism," Mr. Marks declared, "and are here to help solve and iron out any differences that might have arisen between the two towns. I hope that the citizens of Frost accept our visit in the spirit in which we have come."

TRAVELING ACROSS COUNTRY IN AUTO WITH VICE PRESIDENT GARNER IS REAL EXPERIENCE

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, July 27.—(AP)—Travelling across country in a fine automobile is fun for most persons under virtually any conditions, but travelling with Vice-President John N. Garner is more than that. It is an experience long to remember.

Moreover, it offers unusual opportunity to observe the personality of one of the most interesting men in the country. The opportunity came recently to this correspondent when the vice-president journeyed by automobile from his home at Uvalde to Little Rock to attend funeral of Senator Joe T. Robinson.

Mr. Garner, it is well known, is an early riser. He goes to bed early and he gets up with the chickens, but when he has important business like a long trip he beats the chickens.

Long before the sun rose the day set to begin the trip to Little Rock, Mr. Garner, his secretary, Louis Friday, his chauffeur, Thomas Harty—who has been chauffeur, incidentally, for two other vice-president—and the correspondent were eating breakfast on Mr. Garner's back porch. Mrs. Garner and Mrs. Friday bustled about seeing that everyone had his fill of fruit, eggs, sausage, hot biscuit and coffee.

Then came the take-off in the 16-cylinder automobile which goes with the job of being vice-president. Lights were burning as the big motor car swept through Uvalde's streets and headed toward San Antonio. Mr. Garner was in good spirits, although it was pretty plain he did not relish the idea of terminating his vacation and taking up again the cares of official duty at Washington. The first leg of the journey, to San Antonio, was well under way before the sun reddened the eastern sky.

Mr. Garner likes to travel, not exactly incognito, but hampered as little as possible by the necessity of shaking hands, answering questions and talking politics. He prefers to breeze along at a fast, but safe, pace, looking at the crops, chatting with other passengers a little, making a few stops to stretch his legs, and, generally, simply touring. It can't be done if the country knows the vice-president is coming through, and when; therefore, his route was not announced.

He was very interested to learn there was a by-pass through San Antonio and chose it immediately in preference to the regular route through the business section. In the city of Missions there were only three or four pauses for boulevard stop signs.

Comments on University.

Same with the state capital. Again he chose a route which skirted the business section and the University of Texas, where at 9 p. m. traffic was very heavy. As his automobile swept by the fine new buildings of the university he remarked that "if the oil holds out it will be the wealthiest school in the world."

In the vicinity of Rockdale, Milam county, he recalled a time many years ago when he had considered a deal involving the great lignite coal deposits which, roughly, underlie the state in a broad vein from Texarkana to Laredo. He hadn't gone through with it for some reason.

A beautiful field of blooming cotton drew the remark there were "no boll weevils there." If there had been, he said, "You wouldn't see all those blooms.'

And so into Palestine for lunch. A little restaurant and sandwich shop was chosen and everyone had beef sandwiches and milk. The vice-president had a better appetite than the others for he drank two glasses of milk and bragged of it.

Until that time no one, apparently, had recognized the distinguished traveller. Then a man and woman rushed up and wanted to shake hands, which Mr. Garner did very affably. As the party went again to the automobile a crowd was beginning to gather. Faces were pressed against windows, but the knowledge the vice-president was in town had spread too slowly. In a few minutes he again was speeding through the country.

Pause at Jacksonville.

At Jacksonville there was a pause to inquire directions and two men leaped from another automobile and rushed over to the Vice Presidents automobile with extended hands.

"We recognized you and have been following you for several miles," panted one. "We figured if you stopped we'd come up and shake hands.'

Mr. Garner laughed and shook hands with a "Glad to meet you, boys."

Jefferson brought the recollection that 50 years ago Mr. Garner's father hauled hides and cotton to the town "because it was the nearest point to water and railroads were scarce."

Then on to Texarkana, an old "stomping" ground for the vice-president. He had one of his first jobs at a saw mill near Texarkana and often drove cattle to the city from his fathers home at Blossom Prairie, 60 miles away.

There he spent the night, but at 6 the next morning was rapping on the door of Friday's room. Soon the last leg of the trip began.

At Benton, Ark., a detail of state police on motorcycles was waiting, and screaming sirens cleared the highway of traffic into Little Rock. No longer was it possible to avoid recognition. There were no more attempts. Everything was very "official."

Board Completes Work.

The city board of equalization has finished its work with the exception of the making of the final reports, J. M. Pugh, city assessor-collector, revealed Thursday morning.
